BRITAIN LOOKS TO CANADA FOR DEFENCE PLANES

Two Japanese Destroyers Are Reported Sunk

Chinese Also Claim Two Others Disabled By Bombs From Planes

Japanese Report Gains in Shantung

HANKOW (CP-Havas)—The Central (Chinese) News Agency reported Friday morning that Chinese planes had sunk two Japanese destroyers in south China waters early Thursday, disabled two others and shot down three Japanese planes.

Dispatches claimed these results had been accomplished in two air raids off the south coast. Further details were not given.

FOREIGNERS SAFE

SHANGHAI (AP)—United States bluejackets patrolled the small international settlement on Kulungsu Island, off the south China coast Thursday, as thousands of refugees and soldiers poured in after Japanese naval forces had captured nearby Amoy.

The Japanese reported complete occupation of Amoy Island, including the city of Amoy, important port 600 miles south of Shanghai. All foreigners were said to be safe.

The Japanese reported new gains on the Shantung front, where fully a dozen columns were stated to be moving toward the Lunghai railway against stubborn resistance.

On the left wing of that 65-mile front, the Japanese asserted they had occupied Langtzeu, south of Tancheng and only three miles from the Lunghai, and said the Chinese were in full flight. This is the nearest they have approached the vital east-west railroad in their five-month drive.

SAY LOSSES HEAVY

The Chinese divisions fighting at Matowchen, five miles northwest of Tancheng, were said to have been almost annihilated.

The Japanese expressed confidence continuous bombardment of Chinese military bases in central China had brought Chinese resistance to the breaking point. They reported they had inflicted enormous damage on Suchow, junction of the Lunghai and Tientsin-Pukow railways.

Planes From U.S. for Japanese Forces

While diplomats fret over the undeclared war in China and statesmen argue about whether provisions of the United States Neutrality Act should be applied to Japan and China, many American-made planes are being shipped to the Japanese. Here is a rather common sight in Los Angeles harbor as a fighting plane is loaded aboard a ship bound for Japan. Senator G. P. Nye, North Dakota, has declared that the bombs that sank the United States gunboat Panay in the Yangtze last December were probably made in the United States.

Mrs. W. D. Herridge Dies In New York

Remains of Ex-Premier Bennett's Sister to Be Buried in Vancouver

NEW YORK (CP)—Mrs. W. D. Herridge, wife of the former Canadian minister to the United States and sister of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, former Prime Minister of Canada, died in a hospital here this morning.

Although Mrs. Herridge, in her late 40's, had been seriously ill for the last several weeks, her death had not been expected.

Mr. Herridge was at her bedside when she died at 7 a.m. Mr. Bennett was preparing to leave Canada for New York at the time.

The widow will accompany the body to Ottawa tonight. Funeral arrangements will be completed there.

Mrs. Herridge was the former Mildred Bennett. She was born at Hopewell Cape, N.B., daughter of Henry J. Bennett and his wife, formerly Miss Henrietta Stiles.

Her marriage to Mr. Herridge took place in Ottawa while her brother was serving as Prime Minister of Canada. Soon after her marriage she accompanied her husband to Washington and was one of the United States capital's most popular hostesses during her residence in the ministerial mansion.

ILL YEAR AGO Mrs. Herridge entered the Memorial Hospital here about five weeks ago. Medical reports since then had been to the effect her condition was favorable and hopes

Three Brokers Facing Trial

CALGARY (CP)—Charged with conspiracy to defraud the public, F. C. Rubbra, president of the F. C. Rubbra and Company Limited, bankrupt Alberta brokerage firm, and W. D. Smith, a director, were remanded till May 25 when arraigned before Magistrate I. F. Fitch shortly before noon today.

Rubbra, young Calgary broker, was released on bail of $4,000, and Smith on bail of $2,000. Neither was asked to plead. They were arrested at their homes here late last night by Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers.

CALGARY (CP)—N. V. White, Lethbridge broker, charged with conspiracy to defraud the public, was under arrest in the southern city today.

The arrest of the broker, who was vice-president in charge of the Lethbridge branch of the bankrupt F. C. Rubbra and Company, brokerage firm, was confirmed here this afternoon by Sgt. H. N. Trickey of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Bud Fisher Is Ill in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—H. C. (Bud) Fisher, the cartoonist who created Mutt and Jeff, was recuperating today after a serious stomach disorder of 10 days' duration. A series of blood transfusions was given him after a hemorrhage.

Big Borrowing By B.C. Urged

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia should borrow $50,000,000 to carry out a five-year highway program that would complete and surface at least 5,000 miles of British Columbia roads, apart from the proposed Alaska highway, Wendell B. Farris, K.C., suggested today in an address to the Laurier Club here.

Mr. Farris said he thought that by allocating the gasoline tax revenues as a first charge for repayment, British Columbia could borrow $50,000,000 at the rate of $10,000,000 a year.

Spain Insurgent Fliers Kill 69

In Barcelona and Valencia Approximately 155 Loyalists Wounded

BARCELONA (AP)—Forty-seven persons were killed and between 70 and 80 wounded today when insurgent warplanes in a swift raid dropped tons of small bombs on this government capital and its suburbs.

Thirty-five men were killed in Barcelona, including five in a trolley car caught under falling debris.

The raiders approached with such speed, unheralded by the usual anti-aircraft fire, that exploding bombs were the first indication in many parts of the city a raid was in progress.

Streets were jammed with crowds which had no time to take shelter.

The raid came at 4 p.m. (7 a.m. P.S.T.). The city returned to normal within a short while. Anti-aircraft squads had time to fire only a few rounds before the raiders made off.

RAID ON VALENCIA VALENCIA (AP)—Twenty-two persons were killed and more than 80 injured in an insurgent air raid on Valencia and its port early today.

More than 100 bombs were dropped on the port and adjacent residential sections from planes flying at a great height.

(This raid was carried out almost 16 hours before an attack on Barcelona in which more than two score were killed, but Valencia reports were delayed.)

TWO RESCUED BY INDIANS

Victoria Men Saved in Canoe When Launch Grounds On Nitinat Bay

Two Victoria men, Fred Winterburn of 565 Marfield Avenue, and George Duckworth of 1788 First Street, were rescued by Indians in a dugout canoe when the launch L. and H. of the Provincial Department of Public Works ran aground on the Nitinat Bar, West Coast of Vancouver Island, this morning.

The launch was attempting to cross the treacherous bar that leads into Nitinat Lake, when she became disabled and drifted into the breakers and the surf, which were whipped by a stiff breeze sweeping in from the open Pacific.

Indians from shore, watching the launch try to get across the bar, went out in their hand-hewn canoe when they saw the predicament of the two men.

They made the rescue, despite the seas, and took the men to shore.

Ss. Princess Maquinna, which left Victoria last night, stood by the scene of the mishap this morning and proceeded on her voyage up the West Coast when the government lifeboat from Bamfield arrived on the scene.

Brown Leaves Daily Province

Editor of Vancouver Paper, Veteran of Journalism, Retires

VANCOUVER (CP)—Resignation of Roy W. Brown from the position of editor of the Vancouver Daily Province was announced in that newspaper today.

"In announcing he was retiring from active newspaper work, he said there had been exchanges of kindest expressions of goodwill and mutual esteem between M. E. Nichols, managing director, and himself, with officials of the Southern Publishing Co. and with members of the staff of this newspaper in all its departments," the paper said.

While dissociating himself from routine newspaper work, Mr. Brown will continue to reside in Vancouver.

Mr. Brown joined the staff of the Province in his early youth, doing his first editorial work for the newspaper as a reporter.

Selassie Loses Fight At Geneva

Majority of League Council Favors Recognition of Ethiopia as Italian

GENEVA (AP)—The last hopes of Haile Selassie of blocking an Anglo-French move to recognize Italy's conquest of his Ethiopian empire vanished today as a majority of the delegates of the League of Nations Council declared in favor of recognition.

The Council members' judgment late today came after a morning session in which the fallen Ethiopian ruler made a despairing appeal against recognition and demanded the issue be taken to the whole Assembly.

The black-garbed Negus sat silent at the Council table as the president, Wilhelm Munters, Latvian Foreign Minister, summed up.

"The great majority of members feel that, despite regrets, it

MEN TRAPPED IN MINE FREED

Three Rescued at Kirkland Lake, Ont., After Rock Slide

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Two men trapped by falling rock in the 2,800-foot level of the Lake Shore gold mine here were rescued early today after they had been imprisoned for several hours.

The men, George Bolan and Peter West, were found to be only slightly injured. West sprained an ankle and this afternoon was recovering in a hospital.

When the rock fell last night a third man who was slightly injured was brought out without difficulty. It took several hours, however, to clear the other two.

The rockslide, one of the worst in the mine's history, shook the whole town of Kirkland Lake.

The cave-in caused ground tremors that toppled merchandise off shelves in Kirkland Lake stores and upset microphones in the town's radio station.

Coffee and food were sent down to the trapped men several hours after the accident. The two miners were found held in loose rock up to the chest.

Two Firemen In Seattle Injured

SEATTLE (AP)—Two firemen were injured and $9,800 damage done last night, Fire Chief William Fitzgerald estimated, in a two-hour fire at the General Bag Company's plant in the city's south end. Lieut. William H. Hampton was taken to a hospital after wrenching his knee on falling through a hole in the floor, and Fireman John L. Mountain was partially overcome by smoke. The fire cause was not determined.

U.B.C. Graduates Receive Degrees

Sunny Campus Setting For Colorful Ceremony at Point Grey

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nearly 350 graduates of the University of British Columbia received their diplomas today at the 23rd annual spring convocation, where Judge Helen Gregory MacGill of the Vancouver juvenile court was granted an honorary doctorate of laws.

The ceremony was held at the campus. Bright sunshine flooded the lawns and buildings as the procession of university officials and professors, headed by Chancellor R. E. McKenna and President L. S. Kline, marched to the platform where the diplomas were distributed.

With the chancellor and president walked Judge MacGill and Rev. Dr. Willard Brewster of St. Andrew's-Wesley Church here, principal speaker of the convocation.

MEDALS GIVEN Medals and scholarships were presented to successful candidates in the recent spring examinations. The Governor-General's Gold Medal went to Arthur E. Carter, former Victoria resident, who led the graduating class in the faculty of arts and science.

Dr. Brewster said the principal need of the world today was "social eugenics to adjust life itself as so many brilliant engineers have adjusted the machines of life."

plea that the question be carried to the Assembly.

When the Council reconvened late today, Poland, Roumania and Sweden immediately aligned themselves with Great Britain and France against continued non-recognition.

Selassie's aides said they would fight out his exact status at the September meeting of the Assembly.

NEW ZEALAND BITTER

Bitterest opposition to recognition came from New Zealand, whose delegate, W. J. Jordan, declared "this is a return to the laws of the jungle."

The Dominion's spokesman, New Zealand's High Commissioner in London, opened his speech by saying "we sometimes seem to be but little different from brutes." He called the Anglo-French plan "a direct denial of collective responsibilities which are a fundamental part of the League."

China's delegate, Dr. Wellington Koo, declared opposition in more moderate terms.

SPEECH IS READ

Haile Selassie, too ill to speak, sat at the League Council table while his representative, Ato Lawrence Taezz, read his speech.

He told the Council he had come to Geneva to "defend my own people."

He explained he was "just recovering from illness" and asked permission to have his speech read.

"All the procedure the League can command has been used to try to get Ethiopia out of this body of nations," Taezz read in a low voice.

NOT FULLY CONQUERED
The statement of the exiled emperor declared Ethiopia held not only legal but factual rights as an independent state and that Italy had by no means completed conquest of the country.

"I am sorry I do not find myself in agreement with Great Britain, which has given me hospitality, and France, to whom Ethiopia owed its original membership in the League," the statement continued.

"Members of the League, this is a reign of fear. The states that are members of the League are each one for himself. They are tearing up treaties of non-aggression, the League of Nations Covenant and the Briand-Kellogg Pact.

"Since the contagion of aggression has spread throughout the world, states have permitted international morale to vanish. May God forgive them."

The statement expressed Haile Selassie's "sorrow to see the most powerful state in the world which has never ceased to affirm its attachment to the covenant desert us in our sorrow."

"Ethiopia continues to climb her Calvary," the emperor's statement declared. "No humiliation has been spared her. I address a most energetic protest to the world."

BONNET SPEAKS

Georges Bonnet, French Foreign Minister, spoke when the Ethiopian statement was completed.

"We have done all we can," said M. Bonnet, shaking his head emphatically at the Negus, who sat with his eyes closed.

He said all members of the Council were "sorrowful" over the step which "must be taken."

The presence of Emperor Haile Selassie increases our emotion," he declared.

The Negus had entered the League building by a back door to avoid the crowd which had gathered. He took his place in the 15th seat at the Council table—the place formerly occupied by the Italian delegate—and listened without display of emotion to the French translation of a speech just made by Viscount Halifax, British Foreign Secretary.

Defending his move to seek recognition of Italy's conquest, Lord Halifax declared it was the duty of France and Great Britain "to protect the world from the scourge of war" and that it was "not feasible to attempt successful international acceptance of the high ideals for which the League stood."

After outlining the reasons for the "realist" diplomacy of his government, the Foreign Secretary said:

"The British government hope the members of the Council share their opinion that the question of recognition of Italy's position in Ethiopia is a question which each member of the League must decide for itself in the light of its own situation and its own obligations."

He denied Haile Selassie's claims that his followers still hold a large part of Ethiopia.

"The British government's information," he said, "is that Italy has virtually the whole country, with no centre of organized resistance capable of reversing Italian control."

Haile Selassie was dressed in black. All through the session he hung his head low and kept his eyes closed as though he feared to open them and find the almost inevitable decision against him already made.

Appeal To Press Is Made By Eden

British Papers Urged to Moderate in Criticizing Foreign Affairs

LONDON (AP)—Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, former Foreign Secretary, last night echoed a plea made May 3 by Prime Minister Chamberlain for moderation in press criticism, particularly in foreign affairs.

Mr. Eden, speaking to newspaper owners and writers at a dinner, asked for preservation of a "standard of intelligence, decency and self-respect," which, he said, would give a better impression of Britain abroad than "cheap, irresponsible writing."

"It is surely wrong to wash our dirty linen in public," he declared, "unless our object is to make it clean and unless we are prepared to make helpful suggestions as to how it should be made clean."

He added he would be "the last to advocate any restraint on the right to free and fair criticism."

Toronto Star Is Given Honor

COLUMBUS, Mo. (AP)—The Toronto Star, the New York Sun and two individuals received medals of honor for distinguished service in journalism at the 29th annual University of Missouri Journalism week exercises here today.

Individuals receiving awards were Mary Margaret McBride of the Columbia Broadcasting System, and E. E. Swain, editor and publisher of the Kirksville, Mo., Daily Express.

Province Does Not Recognize Federal Power to Study Finances, Board Told

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec government does not recognize the authority of the federal government to grant to any commission the power to investigate provincial government finances, the Rowell Commission was informed today in the most emphatic manner as it opened its Quebec sittings.

"The federal government is no more entitled to examine the financial position of the provinces than the provinces would be to investigate the financial position of the federal government," said Emery Beaulieu, counsel to the provincial government.

"To recognize the jurisdiction of your commission would amount to an acknowledgment that there exists in favor of the federal government a supremacy over the provincial governments. Notwithstanding its deep respect for the members of your commission, this government feels that by so doing it would fall in its duty."

BACKS UP HEPBURN

On behalf of the Quebec government Mr. Beaulieu endorsed the stand taken by Ontario's Premier Mitchell Hepburn before the commission 10 days ago, opposing any further centralization of governmental powers.

"In the opinion of this province, Confederation was a compact voluntarily entered into, and it cannot be modified except with the consent of all parties," he contended. "This province intends to fulfill all its obligations thereunder, and it expects others will do the same."

Quebec held the federal government had never completely fulfilled its obligations regarding provincial subsidies. It felt a readjustment was in order, "taking into account the population of the various provinces, the present needs of each province, and also the sacrifices made in the past by some of them with a view to developing the country."

MONTREAL VIEWS

The Montreal Board of Trade declared that if Canada is to prosper and progress, it must become a national entity, as was intended at Confederation, instead of degenerating into "nine selfish entities" as it present.

In an outspoken submission, the board directly condemned what it saw as the growing tendency of provinces to become so immersed in their own problems they forgot the welfare of the nation and "the rights of citizens as individuals."

"The tendency of the past decade has been towards disintegration into a number of separate sovereign states," the board contended.

The board held a readjustment of Dominion-provincial financial relations essential.

Dr. Joseph Sirois acted as chairman of the Commons today as Hon. N. W. Rowell is confined to his Toronto home with an indisposition.

U.S. Will Extend Pacific Holdings

Bill Pending in House Provides For Palmyra Island Air Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States navy intends to add to its war-time "line of observation" in the Pacific Ocean a few more islands near Canton and Enderbury islands, authoritative persons said today in explanation of a bill pending in the House of Representatives.

Canton and Enderbury now are claimed by both Great Britain and the United States.

An obscure $25,000 item in a measure which the House naval affairs committee approved yesterday involves purchase by the navy of portions of the tiny Palmyra group, about 1,000 miles south of Honolulu, informed persons said.

The projected acquisition fits into the navy's plans for a half-had been held for her recovery. However, her condition suddenly became critical late last night. She sank rapidly. A year ago Mrs. Herridge suffered a serious illness and was in the same hospital.

The marriage of Mildred Marlann Bennett and Hon. William Duncan Herridge, April 14, 1931, was an outstanding social event in the Canadian capital. It took place six weeks before Mr. Herridge, prominent lawyer who served with the Canadian forces in France in the Great War, proceeded to Washington as Canada's envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary. Mr. Herridge served in that post until October, 1935.

Mr. Herridge's first wife, Rose Fleck of Ottawa, died in 1925.

VANCOUVER FUNERAL

OTTAWA (CP)—The late Mrs. W. D. Herridge will be buried in Vancouver, it was announced here today soon after word had come of the death in New York.

It was Mrs. Herridge's expressed desire to be buried beside her sister, Mrs. Evelyn R. Coates, whose remains are interred there.

The body will be shipped from New York tonight and arrive here tomorrow noon. A funeral service will be held in Chalmers Church Saturday afternoon.

On Saturday night the body will be sent from here on its journey to Vancouver. Mr. Herridge and Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, brother of the late Mrs. Herridge, will accompany it.

TRIBUTES PAID

Prime Minister King and Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader in the Senate, today paid tribute to the late Mrs. Herridge.

The Prime Minister's statement follows: "Throughout Canada and, indeed, in other countries as well, there will be feeling of very sincere sorrow at the word of the passing of Mrs. W. D. Herridge."

"The close association with the public life of our country which Mrs. Herridge enjoyed over several years, combined with attributes of character which were everywhere recognized, had caused her to be widely known and won for her the devotion of a very large circle of friends. Within and beyond this circle, the loss of Mrs. Herridge's presence and influence will be greatly felt."

"For Mr. Herridge and his son, and for Mr. Bennett and his son, there will be deep sympathy. Their loss, it may very truly be said, is one which will be shared in all parts of Canada."

Senator Meighen said: "The passing of Mrs. Herridge will be felt by thousands. Sympathy goes out from all Canadians to her bereaved husband, and family, and particularly to her distinguished brother, to whom she meant so much."

REGRET VOICED
Residents of the capital received the news of the death of Mrs. Herridge with great regret.

Few women were better known to the Canadian people than Mrs. Herridge, not because she had for years been the chaperone of a brother's household before and while he was Prime Minister, but because of her natural capacity for making friends.

After her marriage to Hon. W. D. Herridge, she filled the role of hostess at the Canadian Legation in Washington. There, in April, 1932, their son, William, was born.

DEATH ON TROLLER
PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Deputy Coroner A. J. Lancaster said today Verne Moore, 52-year-old Seattle fisherman who collapsed on board the United States troller Peace near here last night, died of heart failure.

SMOOTHER WATERS
Lord Winterton, in concluding his reply, recognized that at the beginning of the expansion the air ministry had encountered "heavy weather."

"We are now coming out of that heavy weather into smoother waters," he declared, "and it seems an inappropriate time to court-martial the captain and officers on the bridge."

PREMIER SPEAKS
Shortly before today's sitting of the Commons Prime Minister Chamberlain pledged a "remarkable increase" in Great Britain's rate of aircraft production. He made his statement at a rally of Conservative Party women.

"I have given my personal attention to this matter in consultation with the Air Minister and the Minister for Co-ordination of Defence," he said. "I am satisfied new measures we have taken will be successful in overcoming defects we have met."

The monarch butterfly takes migratory journeys, and is said to be capable of a 2,000-mile flight.

Victorian Wins Columbia Honor
NEW YORK (CP)—Six Canadians were among 170 receiving fellowship and scholarship awards for 1938-1939 at Columbia University, it was announced by the university council. Fellowships of $1,500 each were awarded to two Canadians, and four others were given scholarships valued at $500 each.

The winners all are from Ontario and the Maritimes. Donald Frederick Purves of Victoria, B.C., was named as alternate for a fellowship which he will receive in event either of the original students selected does not accept the award.

BRITAIN LOOKS TO CANADA FOR DEFENCE PLANES

Ministry had investigated the possibility of purchasing aircraft from the United States.

"It then was not found possible nor feasible to do so" (to purchase American planes), he declared. "The United States had not the machines we required. We have sent a party of experts to reconsider the matter."

"Production of aircraft in the United States is very small compared with this country and it is only certain machines we should require to buy there—mostly for training—and I do not know yet whether we shall be able to get them."

"More important is the possibility of building up war potential in Canada."

Lord Winterton did not expand his reference to Canadian "war potential." It was recalled, however, that the suggestion has been advanced in more than one quarter that the government finance the construction of aircraft factories in Canada for mass production.

Windsor, Ont., near large sources of supply of skilled labor, has been singled out for mention in this respect.

SPEEDING UP
Under the government's new expansion scheme, Lord Winterton said Britain would have 3,500 first-line machines by March, 1940.

The existing scheme, known as "Scheme F," calls for a first line strength of 1,750 first line machines by April, 1939. First line strength does not include reserves. Nor does it include the air forces of the Dominions.

The new scheme will mean the enrolment of another 40,000 officers and men within the next two years. The Royal Air Force personnel now numbers 70,000.

Lord Winterton said he had received assurances from the constructors that production of aircraft would be increased 50 per cent within the next 12 months. Afterwards it would be increased to three times the present rate.

POLICY ATTACKED
Lord Winterton's announcement came after a searching attack by Sir Hugh Seely, Liberal, who charged the House had been lulled by ministerial pronouncements into a false feeling of security.

Germany was able to produce from 400 to 500 planes a month and was not working at capacity, he said. Within a year Germany could have something like 6,000 machines.

Sir Hugh mentioned Britain's Hawker Hurricane type. An order was given for 340 of these machines two years ago. Only 28 were in service. Of the Spitfire type only one was in being. The Air Ministry was delaying production by too many types of machines and gun turrets.

Could the minister deny, Sir Hugh asked, that operational training was practically nonexistent and that it could not be pushed forward because of the danger of wastage? Could the minister deny that bombing accuracy was now less than before expansion?

Vancouver Man Back From Spain

TORONTO (CP)—Commissar of Canadian troops fighting with the government forces in Spain for 13 months, Bob Kerr of Vancouver was in Toronto today on his way home. His job was to explain to Canadian soldiers the cause for which they were fighting, Kerr said.

He told of the rout of 150 insurgent soldiers and six tanks by a detachment of 25 Canadians, led by Scotty McLeod and Curly Wilson, both from British Columbia. Wilson was captured later by the insurgents and is still held.

NO VISA GIVEN

Views Differs On Broadcasting

Commons Hears Lively Debate on Commentators

OTTAWA (CP)—Charges that one of the regular news commentary features of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation contained imaginary facts and "Communist twaddle" enlivened a "free speech" debate Wednesday evening in the House of Commons.

The programs specifically mentioned were those on which Dr. H. L. Stewart, professor of philosophy at Dalhousie University, Halifax, and George V. Ferguson, managing editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, broadcast at regular intervals on a national network.

In the House Tuesday night the subject was raised by T. L. Church, Conservative, Toronto-Broadway, who criticized the corporation's policy of airing these broadcasts.

Prime Minister King, on that occasion, agreed that radio commentators should not voice opinions and criticisms of internal affairs of other countries to an extent that was not indulged in by members of the House of Commons.

The Prime Minister's statement was interpreted by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar, Sask., and by others yesterday as indicating the government would put a curb on the corporation with respect to the Stewart-Ferguson broadcasts in particular.

SPEAKS FOR PREMIER

Mr. King was not in the House during any part of the discussion Wednesday, but Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, answered for him.

Mr. Howe suggested the Prime Minister was expressing only his personal views.

"As to muzzling or attempting to muzzle the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in any way, no action is taken and no action can be taken except in case of war or emergency," said the minister.

The government had no means of censoring CBC broadcasts and regulating radio except in time of riots, war or national emergency.

The Prime Minister's references were confined to paid commentators on the air, Mr. Howe continued, "and every country in the world, I think, has had trouble with paid commentators."

He said Mr. Ferguson and Dr. Stewart were paid.

NEUTRALITY QUESTION

Mr. Coldwell said: "The policies of Prime Minister Chamberlain, which I do not think merit the approval of the majority in Great Britain, may involve this country in a serious situation."

He quoted a speech of Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, in 1937 in which the latter said the question of Canada's right to remain neutral when the Mother Country was at war had not yet been established.

"If that is the case," Mr. Coldwell said, "the foreign policies discussed by Dr. Stewart and Mr. Ferguson are the domestic policies of Canada."

"I urge the Prime Minister to reconsider the policy and the statement given last night."

PRIVATE CONTROL

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction, Kootenay East, expressed the opinion the time had come to abandon public administration of radio in Canada and turn back the stations to private control.

"When it comes to a government paying a man to express views for which the government would not hold themselves responsible, from which views they may indeed differ, then I think we are entering on a dangerous field."

WOODSWORTH'S VIEWS

J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, answering Mr. Howe's explanation of the Prime Minister's remarks, said "I do not think the Prime Minister can very well speak as a private individual in this House, especially when he lays down such important propositions as he did last night. I regard them as a very serious menace to the freedom of speech which we should have in this country."

"So long as I am a member of this Parliament I propose to speak definitely regarding anything that concerns the interest of my country, whether it is being talked about in New Zealand, Great Britain, or Germany or Russia, or anywhere else."

When a Liberal interjected it was not good form to express views on British foreign policy, Mr. Woodworth said: "Not good form? They might involve us in war."

Malcolm McLean, Liberal, Melville, Sask., said he protested against spending money to peddle political propaganda which might not be accurate and which might have an adverse effect on Canada and other countries.

Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver East, opposed Mr. Stevens' suggestion of a return of radio broadcasting to private ownership.

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, objected to that section of the act which provides no radio may be sold, repaired or maintained unless a license is first obtained. He thought the government was going too far and he doubted if it was within competency of Parliament to place such restrictions on those who repair radios.

Transport Minister Howe replied the restriction was already in effect with respect to sale of radios, and the services of repairmen were to be added as a further assistance in insuring license fee collection or "bringing the criminal home to justice—if you want to put it that way."

Mr. Howe said it had been the policy that no person on relief or indigent would be pressed for his license fees.

Senator Wilson Will Preside

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Cairine Wilson, acting president, will preside at the convention of the National Federation of Liberal Women in Canada, here, May 19 to 21, the Ottawa branch of the federation announced today.

Among those assisting Senator Wilson will be Mrs. R. L. Oliver, Nelson, B.C., representing the western provinces.

Time Takes Over Literary Digest

NEW YORK (AP)—Time magazine announced it has purchased the Literary Digest, 48-year-old weekly, and beginning with its May 23 issue will take over the 250,000 Digest subscriptions, according to an announcement by Time last night.

The name of Literary Digest, which had absorbed the Review of Reviews, World's Work and Current Opinion, will be continued in Time's masthead.

Three in Polls Contest in Britain

LONDON (CP)—A three-cornered fight has developed in the Aylesbury election for the House of Commons seat vacated by retirement of Captain M. W. Beaumont, Conservative. Polling will be held May 19.

T. Atholl-Robertson, Liberal, Reginald Groves, Labor, and Stanley Reed, former editor of the Times of India, government candidate, were named in the official nominations yesterday.

An attempt was made to have the Labor Party withdraw from the fight in favor of the Liberal standard-bearer, who, opposition strategists argued, would stand a better chance. Aylesbury, in Buckinghamshire, has been a Conservative stronghold. In the 1935 general election Capt. Beaumont obtained 24,728 votes to 13,622 for Liberal and 4,716 for Labor.

Ten years ago, the United States was producing annually almost 100 million bushels of durum wheat—used in macaroni and similar foods—but in the past five years the crop has fallen to around 17 million bushels a year, due to rust, drought, and shift to bread wheats.

U.B.C. to Honor Lord Tweedsmuir

VANCOUVER (CP)—The University of British Columbia will confer an honorary doctorate of laws on Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General, some time during the summer.

Exact date of the special convocation had not been decided, President L. S. Klinck said yesterday in making the announcement, but it would take place "as soon as it is convenient for His Excellency to visit the coast."

Dr. Klinck said he believed Lord Tweedsmuir intended to visit the Pacific coast in August.

MEMBER FAILS TO BLOCK BILL

C.N.R. Refunding Measure Tested in Commons By A. W. Neill

OTTAWA (CP)—A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, was overruled by Speaker Pierre Casgrain in the House of Commons Wednesday afternoon when he sought to outlaw a government bill on the same grounds used by the government Tuesday night against one of his.

The British Columbia member Tuesday night sat back in his seat while Prime Minister King successfully challenged a bill of his on the ground it had no explanatory note as demanded by the rules. The measure would have had the effect of excluding Oriental immigration.

Yesterday Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, moved third reading of a bill to empower the government to refund Canadian National Railway bonds up to a maximum of $200,000,000. Mr. Neill promptly challenged it because it had no explanatory note.

That was a signal for front-benchers on both sides to thumb over the rule books. Speaker Casgrain finally ruled against the British Columbian because he said he should have made his protest on second reading of the bill, not third.

Mr. Neill challenged the ruling, but could not muster enough support to demand a division.

British Protest Heard By Franco

LONDON (CP)—Great Britain has protested to Gen. Franco over the alleged deliberate bombing of British ships in Valencia harbor.

Instructions had been sent to Sir Robert Hodgson, British agent at Burgos, Richard Butler, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, told the House of Commons Wednesday, to address a strong protest to the Burgos authorities against what appeared to be the British government to "be an entirely unwarrantable proceeding" and to request an investigation of the incident.

Death Declared An Accident

VANCOUVER (CP)—A coroner's jury last night decided 24-year-old Daniel Adrian died from injuries accidentally suffered when he jumped from an automobile traveling at high speed.

When Adrian was taken to a hospital May 1, it was reported in police records he had jumped from an allegedly stolen car into the path of a police car driven by Constable George Kitson. The police reports said Kitson's car struck the young man.

At yesterday's inquest, Kitson said he believed Adrian had fallen under the police car, and that he thought he felt a slight bump as the front wheel struck Adrian.

Coroner's Surgeon A. W. Hunter, however, testified examination of the body of Adrian showed no bruises or abrasions to indicate a wheel had passed over him. Adrian's clothes showed no marks of tires or scuffing.

Evidence at the inquest was to the effect the car Adrian was driving had been taken from a friend.

TRADE TREATIES TO BE READY SOON

SEATTLE (AP)—Drafting of a reciprocal trade agreement with the United Kingdom and the renewal of the trade pact with Canada should be concluded before June 1, in the opinion of Dr. Henry F. Grady, chairman of the committee for reciprocity information of the United States Department of State.

He held a conference with business and industrial leaders here Wednesday. He will be in Tacoma tonight.

"We can not say in advance of treaty negotiations what will be accomplished," Dr. Grady commented, "but we are hopeful that new opportunities will be given for the advancement of Pacific Northwest industries."

He said the department was "fully informed" on the importance of the negotiations to the Pacific Northwest lumber industry.

Council Link On Board Is Sought

BRENTWOOD — The Saanich Board of Trade, meeting this week, held a long discussion on the Saanich School Board matters. A committee was appointed to wait on the municipal council tonight to urge the council to have two of the councillors run for school trustees. It was pointed out during the discussion that the school board appropriation of $80,000 to $90,000 had to be found by the council from taxes, and if only 50 per cent of the taxes are paid by the taxpayers, the full amount had to be paid over for school purposes. The members were agreed that the municipal council should have representation on the school board where such a large sum of money was being expended.

A resolution to establish a parking area and rest rooms on Verdier Avenue, to accommodate the sportsmen and general public, was endorsed and sent to the authorities for consideration. Delegates appointed to the annual convention to the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island, to be held at Courtenay this summer, were Reeve William Crouch, J. E. Sladen and W. O. Wallace.

The Hertzog-Smuts Test

NEXT WEDNESDAY THE ELECTORS of South Africa will go to the polls to choose a new Parliament. The political campaign now nearing its close has been marked by an unusually large crop of cross currents and conflicting appeals. In its early stages the consensus of opinion was that the coalition government of General Hertzog and General Smuts would be returned with its present overwhelming majority largely intact, or, at the worst, not sufficiently impaired to require any particular adjustment of national policy. Latest advances, however, suggest that the spirited introduction of imperial and racial issues has somewhat clouded the issue.

At the general elections in May, 1933, the Nationalists, under the leadership of General Hertzog, elected 75 members and the South African Party, under General Smuts, elected 61. Labor and other factions made up the balance of a House membership of 150. In December three years ago, however, the supporters of Premier Hertzog and General Smuts, respectively, joined forces and gave birth to what is known as the Dominion Party. Certain defections between that time and dissolution last month reduced the government's strength to 115 seats, leaving an opposition composed of Dr. D. F. Malan's ultra-Nationalist group of 20, Colonel C. F. Stallard's following of five staunch Imperialists, and the remaining 10 divided between Laborites and Independents.

Dr. Malan—who, by the way, was a cabinet minister from 1924 to 1933, but who possesses an outlook less elastic than that of General Hertzog—has in recent times stiffened his Nationalism and now says that "the establishment of a republic, independent of the British Crown and Empire, is and remains the aim of the party" of which he is the head. He may almost be termed, for the sake of comparison, the De Valera of South African politics, as Colonel Stallard—whose party complains of the government's apathy toward Empire and international affairs, and wants imperial ties more firmly consolidated—could easily run in double harness with Ulster's Premier Viscount Craigavon.

In view of next week's elections, incidentally, it is interesting to note that the longest tenure of office among Prime Ministers in the British Commonwealth is held by Lord Craigavon, who has continuously been Northern Ireland's Premier since its initiation 17 years ago. General Hertzog holds the next longest continuous tenure of premiership, having retained it for 14 years. Our own Prime Minister Mackenzie King comes next, with 12 years in the Premier's office, but his tenancy has not been continuous. And General Hertzog, we are reminded, is getting old, and his associate and deputy in the premiership, General Smuts, though not so old, has advanced into the years when the burden of office is onerous, although he often climbs Table Mountain for pleasure. The Prime Minister is 72, and his intimate colleague will be 68 on May 24.

South Africa thus gravely ponders the probability of these two statesmen being able much longer to hold a government together. It would seem, therefore, that the gravity—if that be the correct term—of the election lies more in what will follow when the present leaders have to step down than in any uncertainty about the government being returned to power.

Says The Japan Times?

INTERVIEWED IN WINNIPEG THE other day was Miss Henrietta McKaughan, news editor of the Japan Times, who is on her way back to the Island Kingdom after a two-year tour of the British Empire. Beginning her newspaper work on a Kansas publication at the age of 16, she obtained her journalistic experience in other states of the union, finally finding an interesting niche in the Orient in which to expand her knowledge. She seems to have done extremely well in indulging what she terms her two passions—mountain air and printer's ink.

We were somewhat intrigued, however, by Miss McKaughan's reference to her sojourn in New Zealand. She says she liked that part of the British Empire because "it's about 25 years behind the times—that's what makes it so attractive . . . it's restful after you've come from a jazy place." Night life in Honolulu or Cairo, of course, may be taken by the cosmopolite as indifferently as the waters of Harrogate or any Continental European spa; but the student of progress the world over would hesitate to tell the peoples of those two islands down in the southern Pacific that they were 25 years behind the times.

It may be, however, that this distinguished feminine member of the Fourth Estate has not heard that the most progressive social legislation in the world had its origin in New Zealand. And it was that British Empire country's delegate to the current meeting of the Council of the League of Nations at Geneva who yesterday spoke right up and complained of the Anglo-French method of dealing with Mussolini's Italy, and today described recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia as "a return to the laws of the jungle." New Zealand backward, Miss McKaughan?

The Poor Litigant

THE PROPOSAL OF VICTORIA LAWYERS to consider a plan to offer legal aid free to those who are unable to afford it is a gesture of good citizenship. Many people have forfeited their right of recourse to the courts in civil actions because of the inevitable bill for legal costs.

To the public generally the ways of the courts are quite mysterious. Friendly officials, sympathetic and understanding magistrates and judges, may on occasion show an inclination to help an uninitiated person who is financially unable to secure counsel to present his case, but the legal atmosphere is still more or less bewildering.

The rule which limits such a litigant to confine himself to questions to a witness, without comment on the answers, is one that produces a feeling of resentment in the minds of people who attempt to conduct their own cases. The ordinary citizen, in court for the first time, is naturally handicapped by the limitations of custom. Only the experienced—in cross-examination can lightly postpone retort to an apparent rebuff—to make capital out of it later.

This is only one instance of the mystery, to the layman, of court procedure. Others are far more perplexing. The plaintiff or defendant with a lawyer to handle his case has an enormous advantage. Therefore, unless legal advice is available to the poor man, his presentation—unless he be endowed with more than ordinary "persuasive" intelligence—may suffer, no matter how conclusive may be the evidence in his possession. For a judge, after all, is no mind reader. His conclusions, and his final judgment, are based on all the material presented to him for consideration.

Talking Plainly

AT A RECENT MEETING OF GREAT Britain's Amalgamated Engineering Union, which had been asked to assist the government in its efforts to speed up the armament production program, emphasis was laid upon two specific points. It was made clear by the representatives of the workers that, while willing to do their share, they wanted "all cards on the table," the assurance that no sacrifices would be made by the men alone, and that guarantees would be given that arms in whose production they were engaged would not be used "against the cause of democracy" in Spain.

In more specific language, Mr. Fred Smith, general secretary of the union, embellished these two points with other cogent arguments in the organization's journalistic mouthpiece. He begins with the definite statement that the men "are not going to be stampeded into hasty decisions affecting the vital interests of engineering workers." He follows with this:

"There must be full and frank discussion with representatives of the government and the employers about the 'inconveniences and sacrifices' which the situation entails, as far as the engineering workers are concerned. It is beyond our comprehension why the exports of aircraft and other armaments should continue.

"It is illogical to come to the unions with a plea that a shortage of skilled labor requires us to make sacrifices while skilled labor is still employed in producing armaments for sale abroad.

"How can the trade union and labor movements support the Chamberlain government in this betrayal of democracy and freedom in Spain?

"Nothing that passed between the T.U.C. general council and the Prime Minister at the recent meeting must be allowed to imply that Labor condones the betrayal of Spain."

Mr. Smith's reference to the "exports of aircraft and other armaments" is now being discussed in conjunction with the suggestion that Britain is about to purchase several hundreds of the latest type of bombing machines from the United States.

The Daily Mirror says editorially on the subject of aircraft export: "One question surely needs a plain answer. It is not provocative. It is not 'red.' It is temperately put by those who are invited to speed up our aircraft production. Here it is: If this country is in great need of aircraft, why are we exporting them to people who may be our enemies some day? Why, last year, did we thus export fighting aircraft to the extent of £2,640,000? Isn't it about time that we kept what we need for our own defence?" It will be understood, of course, that British Labor as a whole intends to do its part—it has so promised the government—in providing its share of all the means of defence which are deemed necessary. Of what it wants to be assured, however, and quite reasonably, is that the Prime Minister and his colleagues will follow a procedure which reasonably conforms to the realities of existing circumstances. It should be a simple matter to place "all cards on the table" face uppermost at all times.

Notes

In England it takes a presentation at court to make a girl feel equal to anybody; on this continent it takes only a new frock, slippers and hat.

The Florida farmer who used monoxide gas to eliminate boll weevils would be doing the city folk a great favor if he could figure a way to eliminate monoxide gas.

97,500,000,000 CUPS OF TEA

Port of London Monthly
We congratulate the Daily Telegraph and Morning Post on its recent excellent supplement on Empire tea. The subject is of prime interest to a nation which has the reputation of brewing the worst coffee and the best tea in the world. Last year 454,000,000 pounds of tea were imported into the Port of London, representing 93 per cent of all the tea brought into the United Kingdom.

SANE PEOPLE

FOR SOME REASON or other I had never been to Salt Spring Island until the other day. Nearly everybody who reads this has been to Salt Spring and knows the green beauty of its land, the glitter of its inland seas. But what struck me more were the people of Salt Spring.

"They're a gay lot," an old man from Sidney told me. "Oh, sure, a gay, wild lot. You should see one of the big dances over there! How those boys from Salt Spring can hoist 'em! By gosh, yes!"

He did not indicate what the boys from Salt Spring could hoist, but he licked his lips, as if in memory. Well, I know nothing of that. There was no social event under way when I was there to afford me any light on the customs of Salt Spring society, reputedly so vigorous. However, the people I saw appeared to me to be the sanest and the happiest I had ever seen in America, almost as happy as the people of the European and British countryside who, in the shadow of war and universal calamity, are infinitely happier than we are in the world's most advanced state of civilization.

You seem to leave North America altogether when you get off the ferry at Salt Spring. You sigh deeply like a man escaping from something unpleasant. Here is an island, and an island is always a refuge, sheltered by the clean, antiseptic sea. Victoria, of course, is on an island, but rather too big a one to give the full flavor of an island's isolation and protection; and besides, so many people come and go, the place is becoming so large and metropolitan, that you are practically civilized when you are in Victoria. But Salt Spring isn't civilized and that is the glory of it.

I talked to an old man sitting on a gate (very like the old man sitting on a gate in Alice in Wonderland, who spouted the divine poetry about the manufacture of west-coast buttons out of haddock's eyes in the silent night) and he had an air about him of such utter peace as you would never find except on an island, outside the currents of our modern life.

I talked to a business man from the prairies who has fortunately seen the light in middle age and is half retired into Salt Spring already and finds life better than anyone can think possible on the prairies.

I talked to an old soldier, veteran of many battles in the Great War, and he showed me his boat, his garden, his gasoline water pump with the quiet pleasure of a man who knows these to be the most important things in the world, as they should be, though most people won't understand that. With him I drank home-made plum wine, such as the Liquor Board cannot obtain, and ate clam chowder, fresh from the beach, such as the privileged classes of London, Paris or New York will never taste.

There seem to be a lot of sane people in Salt Spring who have found out how to live while there is yet time to do it; not too late, as usually happens elsewhere. Nothing should ever be done to interfere with them. Nobody should build a bridge to Salt Spring or run too many ferries. An island in a swirling sea of general lunacy, Salt Spring should be preserved like the mythical kingdom of Shangri La in Tibet so that when the world has gone down in ruin or exhausted itself with excitement and movement, satiated itself with pleasure and progress, rushed itself into nervous collapse, then Salt Spring will be left with some sane people to show us how to start living again.

BOATS

"I THINK," SAID THE little boy from next door, "that a flat bottom is best. (He was speaking of boats, up at our lake.) Of course, it's nice to have a round bottom for looks. A round bottom looks prettier. Derrick has a round bottom but sometimes he tips over. It's too heavy. A flat bottom doesn't look so pretty, maybe, but it won't tip. Of course, a flat bottom isn't so speedy either. Derrick's round bottom makes better time, I guess, and looks prettier, but my flat bottom, it's good for comfort and it's certainly safer. Derrick can have his round bottom. I'll keep my flat bottom and be safe."

THIRTEEN MILLION

THERE ARE SOME twelve millions of Americans out of work at present and dependent on the state or on charity. I mention this figure not because it is new but because it is so old that nobody pays any more attention to it. This is the most alarming feature of the present situation in America—12,000,000 unemployed in the United States and 1,000,000 in this little country of Canada are accepted as normal without the least concern on the part of the average man.

It is alarming because it shows that as a continent we have become hardened to human suffering. We don't worry about it as we used to do. So long as we can buy silence cheaply by the dole, we are satisfied to let things go along; provided we are prosperous ourselves.

If anyone imagines, however, that there is no vast, inarticulate underground tide of protest in the United States and Canada, a tide which is welling up day by day and will some day reach the surface, he must be a complete fool. If our politicians in Canada don't know it, they must be fools also. If anyone imagines that we are going backward into the old ways, that we are going to abandon our clumsy attempts to do something about this situation in favor of letting nature and laissez-faire take their course, let him enjoy his complacency while he may. Something big is coming out of this; tremendous changes in our society. But no one, not Mr. Roosevelt, or Mr. Lewis, or Mr. Aherhart, or Mr. Technocrat Scot, or Mr. Communist Browder know what they will be like.

Correct this sentence: "My husband is just as good as any guest," she said, "and I let him use my best linen and china."

The amateur is about ready to click when he says: "Well, I've written the thing and I'll send it to the editor, but I wouldn't buy it myself."

Times Reporter on Voyage of Discovery

By PETER STURSEBERG

No. 5

A short time ago the London Times gave prominence to an article in which the writer predicted that the French Canadian would be in the majority in Canada in 30 years.

On the surface, this sounds like a startling statement, but the London Times is hardly the paper to publish sensationalism. As a matter of fact, an ethnological map of Canada would show the truth behind it. The French Canadian is now in the majority, not only in Quebec but in northern Ontario and parts of New Brunswick. St. Boniface in Manitoba is a French city.

Now the French Canadian is beginning to realize that the cradle of Quebec is reversing the decision on the plains of Abraham. The vote particularly in the province of Quebec has given him a growing sense of his power.

No virile race likes to see its industry in the hands of another race. The French Canadian has a further feeling of resentment against the English Canadian because he thinks the English Canadian looks upon him as good enough for labor, but for nothing else. This is largely his own fault because he is usually not sufficiently educated.

These factors have given rise to "L'Action chez nous," a sort of "Buy French" campaign. In Montreal there is also privately printed a list of French Canadian firms. In order to get on this list, a number of national concerns have been adding French Canadians to their boards of directors.

The French have been asserting themselves in other directions as well. Quebec has always been a French city, but now it is almost an insult to speak English there.

Just recently the arms of the city of Montreal were changed. The St. Andrew's cross with the rose, thistle, shamrock and beaver in the corners, which was designed by a Frenchman, Viger, after whom Place Viger in Montreal is named, has become the Catholic cross with the fleur de lys in the right hand corner (which is the most important corner), and the rose, thistle and shamrock in the other corners. The beaver now goes above the shield.

The reason given for the change was "bad heraldry." "Concordia salus," the motto of the city of Montreal remains, probably because it is not English.

There is also a Frenchifying of English names in Quebec. Mountain Street, which was named after Bishop Mountain, an old-time Montrealer, has become Rue de la Montagne. English names which could not be changed have had French names tacked on to them. The most ludicrous of these is Sacre Nom de Jesu de Crabtree Mills.

There are rumors of ill-feeling between the two races, reaching the point of beer hall fighting, particularly in the Laurentians, where the habitants resent the invasion of English skiers.

GREAT MIRROR IS DESCRIBED

Astronomical Society Hears Symposium on New 200-inch Telescope

What astronomy expects from the 200-inch telescope now under course of grinding at the Pasadena Institute of Technology was the subject of a symposium given at the final meeting of the spring session of the Victoria Centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, last evening.

James Smith, M.Sc., ably described the instrument after having made some personal observations of the work being done on the great mirror. William Petrie traced the solar system aspects of the work to be done with this mirror. Miss Phoebe Riddle, B.A., presented the possibilities of the telescope when applied to stellar work.

In describing the huge instrument Mr. Smith asserted that a successful design of the telescope was determined after lengthy experiments with models. This began in 1929, the largest mirror at this time being 100 inches. After careful experiments were made it was decided to construct the mirror from pyrex glass. In 1934 the casting of the mirror was ready to take place. The first attempt proved unsuccessful but the second attempt, made in the latter part of the year, was satisfactory.

The mirror was then placed in an electrically-controlled oven. In the oven a decrease of one degree centigrade resulted each day. After a year in the oven, the mirror was ready for grinding. In one month, the first step of the tedious grinding operations had taken about four tons of the mirror away. This was completed a few weeks back. The next three to four years will be taken up with the fine grinding process which will take away approximately two pounds of the glass.

After the grinding is completed the mirror will be polished and finally coated with a thin aluminum finish.

The total weight of the telescope when finished will be approximately 450 tons. The apparatus will rest on a thin film of oil, fed to pads at the points of contact under a pressure of 250 pounds per square inch. It will be completed around 1940.

During the course of a technical and detailed account of the value of the large instrument in work on the solar system, Mr. Petrie said that there will not be much more seen with this large telescope than is today with the 100-inch instrument, but a clearer and more detailed study of surfaces of some of the planets will result. This telescope will also reach into cosmic space.

Miss Riddle dealt with the stellar aspects of the subject in a philosophical and technical manner. This large mirror will enable scientists to determine subjects one billion light years away. With it, scientists will also be able to study one and a half billion stars.

"The discovery of new stars is important in contributing to the knowledge of our universe," the speaker said.

The greatest light gathering power of the immense instrument will clear up difficulties that have arisen up to the present time. Spectroscopic observations will clear up problems in astronomy.

The speaker also asserted that this new telescope will not only be used in astronomical work but also in the fields of chemistry and physics.

Gordon Shaw was in the chair. Prior to the main presentation, Robert Peters spoke briefly on the eclipse of the moon, which will take place on Friday night.

EMPIRE YOUTH RALLY SUNDAY

Victoria Committee Arranging Meeting in Royal Athletic Park

Arrangements have been completed by the Victoria committee of the National Council of Education for the celebrating of Empire Youth Sunday, in the Royal Athletic Park, on Sunday afternoon at 3.

Boys and girls of secondary school age will be seated on the grandstand and will take part in a program of singing given by students who attended the Coronation celebrations a year ago, and a special message will be read from the Lieut.-Governor.

The main address of the afternoon will be given by Dr. Daniel Buchanan, director of Faculty of Arts and Sciences in the University of British Columbia.

Instruments of music will be furnished by the Victoria Boy's Band under the leadership of George H. E. Greene.

This Empire Youth Rally is being held as an anniversary celebration, the original rally having been held in the Albert Hall in London at the time of the Coronation celebrations last year. The public are invited to attend, although the boys and girls will be given the place of honor in the grandstand.

U.S. Future Is Apprehensible

P. B. Scurrah Finds Growing Fear Under Roosevelt Administration

A growing apprehension about the future of the United States under the present administration is evident in widely scattered parts of the union, according to P. B. Scurrah, Victoria businessman and prominent Rotarian, who returned yesterday after a speedy trip to various U.S. cities.

Mr. Scurrah said the opposition to the Roosevelt administration seemed to be increasing generally as people appeared to be coming to the realization that the country could not borrow itself out of debt and must balance its budget. With Mrs. Scurrah he covered 8,000 miles in just over a fortnight's absence from Victoria. Traveling by land, sea and air they went from Seattle to Chicago; then to Munro, Louisiana; Jackson, Mississippi; New Orleans, Kansas and Minneapolis, attending Rotary functions in these cities.

One of the interesting phases of their trip was a visit to the salt mines of the "Teche" country in southern Louisiana where they watched operations 550 feet below the surface and later visited the jungle gardens immediately above the mine.

Return Drama Group Leaders

Little Theatre Executive to Stay in Office to Complete Improvements

All officers of the Victoria Little Theatre Association were re-elected at the meeting on Tuesday evening.

Those returned to office follow: President, H. J. Davis; vice-president, Capt. B. O. Breton; secretary, Miss Mae Murray; treasurer, H. J. S. Reynolds; committee chairmen: play-reading, Mr. Reynolds; social, Mrs. Guy Shaw and Mrs. A. Long; program, Mrs. Duncan McBride; publicity, Austin Goward; production manager, Les Lamb; property master, Leo Marston; and scenic artist, Boyd MacGill.

Arrangements were made for revision of the by-laws and announcement was made that nominations for a new slate of officers would be accepted at a future meeting.

Financial success of the association's public performances during the year were outlined by Mr. Davis in his report. He expressed thanks to the stage crew and others who had assisted.

Miss Murray spoke of the success of the entry of the association in the Dominion Drama Festival, noting one play had been awarded second place.

All accounts had been paid, the treasurer reported. "Men Are Missing," one of the festival plays, was presented at the close of the meeting.

A variety program will be presented at the clubrooms on Tuesday night under the direction of Mrs. Duncan MacBride.

It is reported that during 1937 the United States Army Air Corps purchased more than 400 new planes in an effort to build the Corps up by June, 1940, into its authorized strength of 2,320 planes.

BAPTISTS HOLD SESSIONS HERE

Vancouver Island Association Discusses World Problems at Meetings

Delegates from Victoria, Nanaimo and Chemainus yesterday attended the semi-annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Baptist Association in Emmanuel Baptist Church.

There were three separate meetings of association branches during the day. The clergy and laymen attended one session in the afternoon while the women attended a separate gathering. In the evening all groups united at one meeting under the chairmanship of Harry Renfree, president, at which young people presented the program.

The association expressed deep regret over the inability of Rev. and Mrs. John Hart, missionaries from India, to attend the meetings owing to the recent death of Mr. Hart's father. Mr. and Mrs. Hart were to have been the guest speakers.

Church problems of today and possibly solutions, with suggestions as to how the church might further its work in the community formed the subject for the afternoon discussions of the ministers and laymen. Dr. F. W. Daele, Chemainus, gave an address on "The Certainties of Our Faith."

At the women's meeting, presided over by Mrs. Angus Galbraith, Mrs. Daele led the devotional period and members heard a missionary talk by Mrs. Henry Knox, Vancouver, who dealt with the difficulty of financing the work in India.

At the dinner gathering Mr. Renfree extended a welcome to the various churches represented and delegates from each church responded with felicitations from their congregations.

The evening program consisted of a series of questions and answers in which discussions were led by Miss Brown, Nanaimo; Henry Robinson, Douglas Street Baptist; Norman Duckworth, First Baptist and Alex. Hall, The Emmanuel Church choir rendered two anthems.

Rev. T. J. Hind gave the closing address on "Christ, the Solver of Our Problems."

Three-year Term For Burglary

DUNCAN—James O'Rourke, of Koksilah, appeared before Judge A. F. Harper in County Court yesterday, on a breaking and entering charge in connection with a recent store robbery at Cowichan Lake. He was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. O'Rourke had a previous jail record.

Commissionaires

At the monthly meeting of the Corps Council of the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires it was shown that R. H. Palmer had qualified as a life-governor. Donations were acknowledged from Mrs. Bruce Peebles and Major J. H. G. Palmer.

It was decided to apply for authority to hold a "tag day." Correspondence still continues with the Red Cross Society relating to the disposal of a grant of £5,000 for Imperial veterans in distress.

Correspondence was received relating to the burial of ex-service men whose relatives had not the means of providing necessary funds.

A scheme has been drawn up whereby owners of private gardens in the city have arranged to open them to visitors, on certain days in each month, when in charge of commissionaires.

A gift of books to the corps was reported, as also were the series of lectures given by the provincial librarian, to enable commissionaires to qualify as guides.

No More Piles

Get Quick, Pleasant Relief

Probably not one person in ten knows the cause of piles is inside—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel. That is the scientific truth about piles and is the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give more than temporary relief—they do not remove the cause.

Your piles can not be relieved until you have corrected the condition which causes them. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, who early in his professional life made many tests to relieve piles by correcting the cause. His medicine succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, eases the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

Resolutions At National Council

World Peace Among Problems For
Vancouver Convention

The question of peace will hold a prominent place in the agenda of the National Council of Women meeting in Vancouver May 23 to 28. Out of 28 resolutions to receive attention, six will deal with promotion of peace, 11 with welfare of women and children, three with cinema, two with broadcasting, two with animal welfare, one with formation of new councils, one with consumer study and two with the constitution.

These come from Great Britain, United States, Austria, Belgium, Poland, France, Denmark, The Netherlands and the board of officers of the International Council of Women.

France advocates international collaboration and restoration of confidence in the League of Nations, as well as use of broadcasting to promote peace. United States would exert collective influence for peace, refuse acceptance of doctrine of physical force, advocates peaceful negotiations, sanctity of treaties, with their modification, observance of international law, economic justice and limitation and reductions of armaments. Great Britain seeks peaceful means of solving difficulties, and Belgium would enforce obligations of the League of Nations Covenant, and no breaking of international law. Austria would have teachers impart broad outlines of economic principles.

AIMS OF SMALLER NATIONS

Denmark wishes adequate maintenance for children; Austria, systematized care for girls between 14 and 16, and United States, pre-grade education for children. The Netherlands believes exchange of girls in visiting foreign countries should be supervised and encouraged, and Poland would have co-ordination of efforts for protection of children.

Great Britain asks suppression of traffic in women and children, as well as an extended physical education and healthful recreation, while Denmark wants psychiatric examination of prostitutes. Regulated conditions for domesticity is a resolution from the board of officers, and Poland asks protective legislation for agricultural workers. Great Britain's request is for equal moral standards, and equality of rights between men and women in all fields is sought by United States.

Both United States and France send resolutions on the cinema. The former would have producers and educators collaborate, making films to promote tolerance and understanding, while France thinks the cinema is a true medium of promoting understanding. The latter country wants international circulation of educational films, certain films shown only through legations and cultural societies, clubs formed to promote international understanding, production of films to this end, and cinemas in the schools. Formation of new councils in countries, not yet organized is suggested by Great Britain, and France thinks women should take an interest in broadcasting. Protection for animals and their legal status are sought by The Netherlands, and Great Britain would have importation or sale of plumage of wild birds for millinery prohibited. Study of consumer interests is urged by United States.

Sister of Amor De Cosmos Is Dead

Mrs. Fanny Lenoir Dies At Ripe Age of 104

HALIFAX (CP)—Mrs. Fanny Lenoir, Nova Scotia's oldest resident who had lived during the reigns of six British monarchs, died here last night after a week's illness. She would have been 105 next November.

Two years ago, in the red-carpeted council chamber of the old Nova Scotia Legislature Building, Mrs. Lenoir and Mrs. Loring W. Bailey, also of Halifax, were presented with medals commemorating the maiden voyage of the liner Queen Mary.

She was then the last living person to have greeted and visited the Cunarder Britannia, first ship of that line to cross from England to Halifax on a regular passenger run. Mrs. Bailey, then 94, was the oldest living client of the line.

A brother gained fame in the pioneering days of British Columbia and as Hon. Amor De Cosmos became the province's second premier. By an act of the California House he had his name changed from Smith.

Born in Nova Scotia during the reign of William IV, she lived, too, in the reigns of Queen Victoria, Edward VII, George V, Edward VIII, and George VI.

IV—"BLACK LIGHT"

A prison warden sat in his office, reading letters written by convicts. Each prisoner was allowed to write only one letter a week, but to read the letters of all prisoners was quite a long task.

An "Ultra Violet" machine

It might seem a shame that a prisoner cannot even send a letter to a friend or relative without someone reading it, but that is the rule. Otherwise the letter might ask someone to send a file to cut through the prison bars! "Everything's getting along okay in the Big House, but I want some more cigarettes. Bring some along next time you come, will you?"

There didn't seem to be anything wrong with that letter, but to read the words written in pencil wasn't enough. There was a machine in a little side room, an important machine. An assistant took the letter, along with others and placed it under a light.

The light was of a strange kind. It was made by ultra-violet rays, which often are spoken of as "black light."

Ultra-violet rays are very short indeed. One hundred thousand of them end-to-end would make about one inch.

Under the black light, the assistant saw something which had not been seen before. Words glowed from the paper, and he called the warden. This is what they read:

"We've got some keys and four of us are going to get out of here next Wednesday morning. Wait for us in a car near the east gate at 3 Wednesday morning."

That little story is given as an example of the work done with ultra-violet rays. Time and again they have helped prison officers to stop escapes by learning of plots in advance.

"How does a prisoner write secret words?" we may ask. Sometimes he has a small bottle of invisible ink. More often he uses fruit juice. With a splinter of wood, or something of the sort, he writes words on the paper, words which will appear plainly when the person who gets the letter holds it over a fire, or uses a chemical on it.

The dark rays are used in other ways as well. For instance they may prove that words in a will have been erased and others put in their place. Often they show exactly what words have been rubbed out. No matter how neatly the erasing has been done, the rays can see through it.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

Friday, May 13, 1938

Astrology appears to coincide with superstition regarding Friday the 13th, for the horoscope today is ill-omened. There may be much misunderstanding and a great deal of foolish discussion under this direction of the stars.

Through the morning hours business men and politicians may make serious mistakes. Legislators should be especially wary in expressing opinions.

There is a sign which appears to presage a united public in national issues of great significance. Party lines are to be ignored in the wake of grave events.

Although the seers have preached thrift constantly in recent years, they emphasize the need of wise economy at this time. A bankrupt world is foreseen as a result of chaos in European and Asiatic public-affairs.

Poland comes under aspects denoting changes in governmental affairs. Wide discontent among the people is prognosticated.

When the sun enters Cancer for the summer quarter Czechoslovakia has Jupiter helpful in trine to the rising sun and Mercury—and the configuration is promising, although there is a sign indicating large expenditures for armaments.

For the United States the summer may be a period of much speculation. Oil, tin and rubber are likely to rise greatly, and

TO BE A GOOD WIFE you will need to be a diplomat. Husbands and wives are bound to differ on a thousand things because of their difference of sex and point of view. Accept that as one of the facts of life that cannot be changed. Don't waste your time and energy and provoke strife by arguing with your husband over his beliefs and prejudices. Learn how to gumshoe around them instead of butting into them. Leave strangers to tell him of his faults and correct his grammar and pronunciation. Handle him with gloves. There is nothing that pays such dividends in marriage as tact.

You will need to know how to be a working partner. If you want your husband to succeed, you must make him a comfortable, peaceful home to which he returns with joy each night and from which he goes forth refreshed to his battle with the world. You must be a thrifty manager. You must take an interest in everything he is doing. You must keep his faith alive in himself. You must make him happy. You must make him feel that you are worth working for. Very few men ever get anywhere who have extravagant, nagging wives who belittle them.

You must be your husband's press agent. To a large extent the world takes a man at his wife's valuation. If she looks up to him and admires him and respects him and is always singing his praises, other people begin to think that he must be a pretty fine sort of a chap. But if a wife is always criticizing her husband and broadcasting his faults and weaknesses, if she complains that he isn't a money-maker or is a bad manager or that he drinks too much at parties or loses too much in card games, she soon gets him the reputation of being no-account and a drunkard and a gambler. Many a wife ruins her husband's chances in life by her indiscreet talking.

These are only a few of the things you will need to know to be a good wife, daughter. There are a million other sidelines. For being a wife is the most complicated job on earth.

SINGERS AT ## THE CAPITOL

Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in "The Girl of the Golden West"

Surpassing all their previous screen appearances in the language of music, Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy are seen and heard in an exquisite panorama of romance and song in "The Girl of the Golden West," now at the Capitol Theatre.

The lovely new songs heard in the picture include "Senorita," "Soldiers of Fortune," "The Wind in the Trees," "Shadows on the Moon," "Who Are We to Say," "From Sun-up to Sundown" and "Mariachi," which is the theme of a lavish Spanish festival.

In the supporting cast are Walter Pidgeon, Leo Carrillo, Buddy Ebsen, Leonard Penn, Priscilla Lawson, Bob Murphy, Olin Howland, Cliff Edwards, Billy Bevan, Brandon Tynan, H. B. Warner and Monty Woolley.

Mystery Drama

At The Plaza

James Dunn and Jean Rogers Co-starred in "Mysterious Crossing"

Featuring James Dunn in a role ideally suited to him, Universal's "Mysterious Crossing" opens at the Plaza Theatre today. The picture is a mystery drama. Although it has many tense exciting moments, in keeping with its main theme, it also has the appeal of well-developed comedy.

Jimmy Dunn is cast as a roving star reporter who knows a good story when he sees one.

Playing opposite him is lovely Jean Rogers, whose talent and blonde beauty are pointing her rapidly toward stardom.

Richard Dix and Fay Wray are starred in "It Happened in Hollywood," which is on the same program.

Anna May Wong

At The Oak Bay

A daring story of the alien smuggling racket brings Anna May Wong and a brilliant cast of supporting players to the Oak Bay Theatre today in "Daughter of Shanghai."

The title role is played by Miss Wong, daughter of a wealthy San Francisco merchant who undertakes to run the smuggling band to earth when her father is murdered for refusing to take part in the band's scheme to smuggle aliens into this country. In this she is assisted by Philip Ahn, noted Chinese actor, who plays the part of a secret agent.

Also being shown are Joan Bennett and Henry Fonda in "I Met My Love Again."

Atlas to Star

Colbert, Cooper

The sophisticated, fast-stepping crowd which forms the European counterpart of America's "cave society" is satirized in the new Paramount comedy, "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," which will open tomorrow at the Atlas Theatre with Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper in the starring roles.
